OUR TRUSTS

Our three trusts support the conservation work and extend the reach of Jefferson County Open Space. We fund programs and initiatives that get people outdoors, promote stewardship and trail courtesy, acquire public lands and build trails.

Outdoors For All

Donations support initiatives that provide supplies, equipment, transportation, and enhanced accessibility to nature for everyone.

Youth Adventure Club

This program is a partnership between Jeffco Open Space, Human Services, and Public Schools that introduces kids to the outdoors through guided adventures that include free transportation, back packs, gear, and food.

Recreation Adventures for people experiencing Disabilities (RAD)

This collaborative program includes building “Usable” trails, acquiring adaptive devices (bikes, track chairs), training, and programs to allow people experiencing disabilities to explore the outdoors.

School Transportation Program

This program provides funds for school buses and drivers so that students can experience area parks and environmental education sites.

Good Stewards

Donations support stewardship and trail courtesy education, volunteer programs, and youth development initiatives that care for and protect public lands.

Youth Conservation Jobs

This initiative funds jobs that introduce teens to conservation and associated careers.

Volunteer Stewardship

Helps recruit, train, and empower volunteers to steward public lands and share important Leave No Trace (LNT) information with visitors.

Visitor Stewardship & Trail Courtesy Initiatives

Further extend the reach of Jeffco Open Space’s visitor stewardship and trail courtesy programs with tools such as studies, technology, and equipment.

Land & Trails

Donations support open space and parkland acquisitions and trail projects that preserve the outdoors for everyone forever.

Land Conservation

Help preserve more public open space and parkland, protect natural and heritage resources, and create more outdoor opportunities.

Trail Improvements & Access

Enhance equitable access to trails that connect people to nature through restoration of existing or development of new multi-use or designated trails.
